

The Daily Standard.

D. MACKLEY, Publisher.

FRIDAY EVENING, SEPT. 26, 1873.

VALEDICTORY.

And now, kind readers, after our three days pleasant intercourse, we must part. The present is the last issue of the Daily Standard. You have kindly patronized my little paper, and I have tried as well as I could, under the circumstances, to return you full value for your money. I hope you feel satisfied with my efforts to please you. The time may come when I will establish a Daily permanently at this place. Until then, good by.

D. MACKLEY.

ELI BACKUS.

Everybody will be anxious to meet Bro. Backus, the great Prohibitionist, who has acquired such renown in consequence of his wonderful articles which have appeared in the STANDARD. Bro. Backus is in town today. We give his portrait, and a fac simile of his signature. It is a square hand, very similar to that of James Madison, fourth President of the United States.

We caution our sisters in the good cause to let Bro. Backus alone. He does not care about women. His whole and entire energies are enlisted in the great cause of Prohibition.

We rejoice to know that the women are preparing to take part in all matters of public concern in which men are permitted to engage. We saw a woman with a child in her arms invest her money at the gambling wheel to-day. Who will say that women cannot go to elections and vote after that?

We notice that the gambling wheel of which we spoke yesterday, is in full operation at the Fair Grounds to-day. This is a plain violation of the Statute of last winter. We had hoped that the officers of the Agricultural Society would have the laws of the State obeyed, and not permit gambling within the Fair Grounds.

We met Wm. Stickles this forenoon. The old man is still able to walk around. He is in his 85th year. He will be remembered by our old citizens as having lived at the late Daniel Hoffman's, for a great many years.

The weather cleared up at nine this morning, warm and beautiful, and at this writing, (10 o'clock) the streets and side walks are a perfect jam, the people from the country pouring in by the hundred.

We met Wm. Austin of Milton township to-day. He is father of Frank and Allen Austin. He is 67 years of age, and has resided in Jackson county for more than 50 years.

Capt. William J. Evans of Oak Hill is here. He was our member of the Legislature in 1854, and voted for our liquor law.

Mr. L. Campbell informs us that the stock on exhibition yesterday, though not large in quantity, was of superior quality.

Mrs. Misner of Berlin, has her knitting machine on exhibition.

A vast crowd of people came up on the mail train at eleven o'clock to-day.

As soon as the officers in charge had notice, they sent the lottery gambler out. Right.

All the hotels and boarding houses in town are crowded to their utmost capacity to-day.

At six o'clock this morning the temperature was 56; at one it is 80.

Every vacant lot, and every alley in town, is crowded with horses.

The School Examiners are in session to-day. They have a class of about 15.

THE DEBATE.

We announced yesterday that the debate to be held at the Court House last night would be conducted by James Tripp and I. T. Monahan. The arrangement was somewhat changed, and J. L. Jones and I. T. were the contestants. The Central Committees of the two parties arranged that Mr. Jones should open with a speech of one hour, to be followed by Dr. I. T. with a speech of one hour and a half, and Mr. Jones should have a half hour to close. The Republican Central Committee chose Samuel Baker for moderator on their part, and the Democratic Central Committee chose Aaron McLaughlin moderator on their part, and at half past seven Mr. Jones opened the debate. It is impossible to give even a sketch of the points made, or the course of the argument in this three hours debate.

The Court House was pretty well filled with people.

POSTSCRIPT.

We stop our Fairhaven press to announce that Bro. Backus desires us to say to the deluded females who are writing for the papers, and claiming to be his wives, that he thinks their best hope is to depend for their support, not on him, a humble individual, but to look for support in the old way, by the voluntary contributions of the fairrunners.

The following additional entries, since 8 o'clock this morning, and up to 1 P. M., have been furnished by G. W. Harbarger, Secretary of the Agricultural Society:

Fruit	20
Fancy articles	31
Sweepstakes	6
Horticulture	14
Track Performance	5
Dairy Products	71
Poultry	9
Domestic	4

We went to Rice & Colvin for an advertisement for the Daily, but they said they had about all the customers they could attend to. They inform us to-day that their run of custom has been tremendous this week, and they scarcely get time to eat. Their store evidently has a good run of custom.

We have made some inquiry of the farmers who have been in town this week, as to the crops of the present year, and the universal report is that taking the crops all together, there has been the largest yield this year that there has ever been raised in the county.

We called at the Mayor's Office at noon, and found the premises vacated. There had been no arrests, and no complaints made up to that time.

Johnny Downey, one of our carrier boys, met Eli Backus on the street yesterday, and at once recognized him, from his striking likeness, published in the Daily.

We start out ten boys to-day with our Daily. You can find them everywhere, from three to six o'clock this evening. This will be your last chance, perhaps for years, to buy a daily paper printed in Jackson. Patronize the boys.

Isaac P. Jones, of Madison township, advertised his farm for sale in the STANDARD a few weeks ago, and at once sold it to Robert W. Jones, of Oak Hill. Moral, Advertise your farms in the STANDARD.

MARRIED.

DECKER-JONES—On September 25, 1873, at the residence of the bride's father, near Portland, by Rev. David J. Jenkins, Mr. Robert J. Decker of Middleport, Meigs county, and Miss Maggie B. Jones, daughter of Benjamin Jones of Jefferson township.

Middleport papers please copy.

KIRKENDALL-JARVIS—Last night, at the residence of Aaron Kirkendall, in Jackson, by B. F. Smith, J. P., Mr. Jasper Kirkendall, brother of the Treasurer of Jackson county, and Miss Mary Jarvis.

The most interesting part of the Fair will no doubt come off after we go to press to-day, but we will give some account of it in our weekly next week.

Mrs. DuHadway has a fine lot of millinery goods on exhibition to-day.

FURNITURE.

NUTT & WADE!

Furniture Store.

ROOMS ON BROADWAY STREET,

OPPOSITE GRATTON BLOCK.

We keep constantly on hand a first class assortment of all the different styles of

FURNITURE.

At the lowest prices. Also keep a large supply of CASES and BUREAU CASES on hand, and are prepared to fill all orders on short notice. A good HEARSE furnished when desired.

HOTELS.

GOOD BOARD!

FRANKLIN HOUSE!

Joseph Andres

Desires the public to know that he is ready, at any hour, to furnish FIRST CLASS BOARDING ACCOMMODATIONS CHEAP. He has

Thoroughly Cleaned Up The Premises, and the FRANKLIN HOUSE is, and always has been, kept clean and in good order. Farmers and others who desire good cheap boarding, or single meal, can find no better place in Jackson. I any tavern-keeper in Jackson to set as fine a table as I do.

CHALLENGE

JOSEPH ANDRES.

STATIONERY.

"THE" BOOK STORE.

J. A. STARKEY

Keeps a first class Book Store on Broadway, in the Gratton Block, nearly opposite the Post-office, where he keeps all kinds of SCHOOL BOOKS.

MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.

PAPER, INK, ENVELOPES.

ALBUMS, BRACKETS.

GOLD PENS.

HAT RACKS.

PICTURES.

PICTURE FRAMES.

And a general assortment of all kinds of Stationery.

JEWELRY, ETC.

W. H. Tolley,

(Opp. First National Bank.)

Has just returned from Cincinnati with the LARGEST AND FINEST STOCK!

Jewelry Goods

Ever offered in Jackson. He has all kinds of

CLOCKS,

Watches,

GOLD AND SILVER CHAINS,

GOLD AND SILVER RINGS.

Gold and Silver Spectacles, Silver and Plated Spoons, Silver and Plated Tea Sets, and everything else to be found in a

FIRST CLASS JEWELRY STORE.

He can furnish sets of Jewelry from five cents up to forty dollars. Repairing done on short notice.

LIVERY STABLE.

NEW LIVERY STABLE.

C. GRAHAM

Has purchased the

Isham House Livery Stable,

And is prepared to furnish all who may call on him, either with

Riding Horses,

Single Horse & Buggy, or

Two Horse Buggy.

He will have a good OMNIBUS running regularly to and from the Depot to meet all the Trains.

Day or Night,

And strict attention paid to the wants of the Public generally.

Give Me a Call.

Sept. 18, 73—C. GRAHAM.

F. S. He has renovated the Stable throughout, got his rigs in fine trim, had his buggies repaired and re-painted, and is now prepared to accommodate all who wish anything in his line.

He will have an Omnibus running to and from the Depot, all hours during the Fair, and at other times to meet all the trains.

BARBER.

WILLIAM CHEW,

BARBER AND HAIR DRESSER,

Broadway, near the Postoffice.

Mr. Chew will attend promptly to all calls in his line of business, and hopes to merit a share of patronage.

He expects soon to remove to a room in the ISHAM HOUSE.

Where he will be pleased to see all his old customers, and many new ones.

PRINTING.

The Standard Printing House turns out as fine work as can be done in the State.

Specimens of this work are on exhibition at the Fair this week.